July 7, 2005

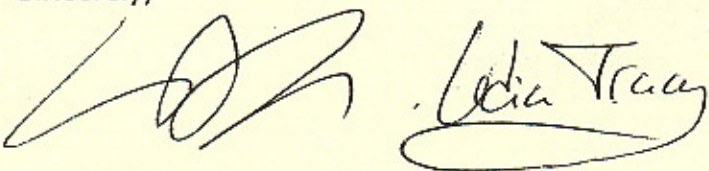

I met Rima Numan from Little Angels School House on August 2003, when my son Adam was 7 month old and I was looking for day care for him. It wasn't until the next year, in July 2004 that I enrolled him at Little Angels, after we moved to live in Chatham.

From the first time I met Rima and visited her day care I had a great impression. I found it very different from any day care I have seen before. The place looked to me extremely clean and homey, a place where kids can play safely and feel like at home. All that and the fact that it is a smaller day care made me feel a lot more confident about leaving my son there for the day while I was working.

Rima is always loving and caring with all the kids equally, taking care of all their needs. Also, she is a hard worker and from the time I get there to drop off Adam and the time a pick him up, she is always doing something. Rima is a very enthusiastic person regarding education. She is constantly researching for new ways to teach and improve kids' intellectual development and at the same time making it fun for them.

For all that I will always recommend Little Angels to any friend or family member that had that need. And of course in the future if I ever need day care services again I will definitely choose Little Angels again.

Sincerely,
